“ I met Chrysanne when she was about 9 years old. She was the cutest girl I had ever seen. Of course, Marcie and I were always together, so Chrysanne would be with us from time to time and wanted to hang out with us. Even then, she was sweet and had a lovable disposition. Marcie would get annoyed sometime (big sister/little sister stuff), but both of them always showed a sweet love for each other. I watched her grow up! I moved away and kept up with her through Marcie. I know she was loved! "Sisters are different flowers from the same garden". May God hold Chrys close in his arms. She has his eternal security.

Always,

“ Chrys and I met in college and bonded over our love for rock music. We attended many concerts together and were partners in crime. She was also a bridesmaid in my wedding. We maintained our friendship and my heart is broken because I will miss our conversations and she could always cheer me up. She will be greatly missed. She had such a sweet spirit and loved her family and friends dearly, especially her daughter. I pray that God gives you comfort during this time and guides your steps in the days ahead.

With much love,
Angie Buchanan

“ I remember Chrys from many years ago when we were teenagers thru mutual friends and she was always kind and had a smile on her face. I continued to run into her over the years and she would always go out of her way to speak and say hello! So sorry for your loss! She was a sweet soul.

“ Chrys and I met in college and bonded over our love for rock music. We attended many concerts together and she was a bridesmaid in my wedding. We kept in touch often and tried to get together whenever possible. She was a true friend that had such a sweet spirit and could always cheer me up. My heart breaks to know that we will no longer have the long talks that we often shared. She loved her family and friends dearly, and especially her beautiful daughter. She will be truly missed. Please know that I am praying that God will comfort you and give you strength in the days ahead and guide your path.

With much love,
